NEW GATE MARKER signs have been installed at the south and north entrances of the John C. Stennis Space Center, formerly the National Space Technology Laboratories. New directional signs are also now in place on State Hwy. 607 and along Interstate 10 and 59.

Stennis Space Center dedication scheduled

Dedication of NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories as the John C. Stennis Space Center in Hancock County are scheduled Wednesday.

The ceremony will begin at 11 a.m., followed immediately by a public reception. The event will take place on the grounds in front of the NASA administrative complex.

"We invite and encourage the public to join our center employees and honored guests for this dedication and in the celebration of Sen. Stennis' 87th birthday," said Jerry Hlass, director of the Stennis Center.

Sharing the speaker's podium with Stennis will be Sen. Thad Cochran, NASA Administrator Dr. James C. Fletcher, Gov. Ray Mabus and Rear Adm. Richard Truly, a Mississippi native and former astronaut who is now NASA's associate administrator for Space Flight.

The national anthem will be sung by Tom Seawright, Miss. Mississippi for 1987. Roy Estess, the Stennis Center's deputy director, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Following remarks by the speakers, a flyover of 12 aircraft, ranging from vintage aircraft to America's most modern jets, will take place.

The types of aircraft, which span the senator's 41 years of public service, will be four Texan T-6s, four Phantom F-4s from the 186th Tac Recon Group of the Mississippi Air National Guard in Meridian and four Eagle F-15s from the 159th Tactical Fighter Group from the Louisiana Air National Guard.

The flyover is being coordinated by Col. Ken Combs, commander of the Air National Guard Training Site.

Music for the program will be provided by the Marine Corps Band.

Among the special guests at the dedication will be Mississippi's astronauts, including Donald Peterson and Stuart Roosa.

Peterson, a native of Winona, flew on the sixth Space Shuttle mission, Roosa, who resides in Gulfport, flew on Apollo 14.

Guests also will include honor students from the Stennis Center's two local adopted schools, West Side Elementary in Picayune, and Charles B. Murphy in Pearlman, as well as graduates of the center's youth Astro Camps.

The hour-long public reception will begin at noon, and refreshments will be served. Musical entertainment will be provided by Southern Exposure, a song and dance group from the University of Southern Mississippi.

A special feature of the day will be the presentation of three new major exhibits.

One depicts Sen. Stennis' long association with the space program and his career of public service. The exhibit will remain on permanent display in the Visitors Center lobby.

Another new permanent exhibit is the F-1 rocket engine located in front of the Visitors Center.

Also, a large scale model of the Space Shuttle will be displayed at the dedication on the grounds adjacent to the ceremony and reception activities.

The Stennis Space Center was renamed in honor of Mississippi's senior senator when President Reagan signed the executive order May 20, stating, "Sen. John C. Stennis has served his country as a United States senator for over 40 years and has steadfastly supported the nation's space program since its inception. He has demonstrated visionary leadership and has consistently worked to assure United States world leadership and preeminence in space."

School board debates look of new school

BY D.C. HARVILL

Is beauty worth paying extra for? That is a question the Hancock County School Board is trying to determine in its selection of materials for the new Hancock County High School to be built at Stennis Airpark.

At a recess meeting Tuesday, school architect Bill Tompkins offered samples of blocks, being considered for the school's exterior walls, for the board's approval.

The board, unsatisfied with the appearance of the block's stone appearance, suggested that alternatives be investigated.

"If we're building a building for the public and can use brick for about the same price as block I would rather have the brick," said board member Lynette Necaise.

"If the public is going to have to look at the building for the next 50 years we want it to look nice," she continued.

According to Tompkins, the main savings in the use of block is that it takes less time to lay block than it does brick.

"If we're not going to save a of money with block I would choose brick because it's prettier," added board member Carol Bustetter.

Board member Barbara Dedeaux suggested that Tompkins compile a cost comparison for the installation of the two materials before the board makes a decision.

In other business the board: —Approved a budget for adult education classes to be conducted by the system.

—Accepted, under advisement a bid of $2935 by Abbey Press of Gulfport for printing 3000 copies of an information brochure about the school system.

—Approved renewal of a lease held by Greg Mitchell on 16th section land after he matched the highest bid, as allowed by law, following a rebid of the lease.

—Presented a plaque to Sun-Herald reporter Edith Back in appreciation for her 10 years of covering the board.

Edith Back's positive journalism has improved the education climate in Hancock County," said Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph.

New BaySide commissioners appointed

BY DENA BISNETTE

The BaySide Park Fire and Water Protection District has four new commissioners.

The new commissioners, appointed Friday by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, will serve the unexpired terms of their predecessors, who resigned two weeks ago.

Ray Prentice of Heron Bay will serve four years, Cindy Guillot of BaySide Park will serve five years, Wayne Lusich of Lakeshore will serve one year and Arvin Garcia, also of Lakeshore, will serve three years.

Richard Fayard, appointed last month after a separate resignation by former commissioner Albert D. Biehl, who had been elected president of the Hancock County Lawman's Association, has four years left on his term.

Fayard is an officer in the BaySide Park Volunteer Fire Department and Guillot is an active firefighter.

In a letter signed by all four of the commissioners who resigned, the reasons given for the resignations included none cooperation from the supervisors.

The letter stated, "We, the BAYSIDE—Page 8A

Remote sensing center selected as testing site for Astronautics system

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Institute for Technology Development's Space Remote Sensing Center at John C. Stennis Space Center has been chosen as a beta test site for an advanced mini-super computer system.

The site is one of five conducting tests for Astronautics Corporation of America on the ZS-1, George May, director of the Space Remote Sensing Center, announced to a group of space center officials and other dignitaries Thursday.

May said the mini-super computer will undergo an initial six-month testing period, then will continue to be used for a variety of research and development.

Neal Yawn, the institute's vice-president for division operations, explained that the new system will greatly reduce the amount of time needed to process data and achieve results. Jobs that once took sixteen hours can take a few minutes, he explained.

The system includes high-speed processing and huge storage capacity as well as a method for automated analyzing of imagery.

The space remote sensing center's agreement with Astronautics will allow researchers to use the computer for about 18 months in numerous projects, Yawn said. He added that the purpose of the space remote sensing center has been established for the commercial development of space and applications of remote sensing technology.

Applications of this new technology include airborne scanning, agriculture, forestry, natural and cultural resource management and direct monitoring, Yawn added.

John Zelenka, regional manager for Astronautics, stated, "We at Astronautics Corporation of America are pleased for the opportunity to participate in this milestone event for the Institute of Technology Development and the Space Remote Sensing Center."

He explained that 29-year-old, Milwaukee-based firm has an established background in avionics and military telecommunications hardware. Until four years ago, the firm handled only military contracts, but has expanded into the research and development area due to today's unpredictable world marketplace.

Zelenka called the alliance between the Space Remote Sensing Center and Astronautics "a cultural compatibility of

MARY BOGGS

Mary E. Boggs, 76, of Long Beach, died Friday, July 29, in Gulfport. She was the sister of the late Congressman T. Hall Boggs.

Miss Boggs was a native and life-long resident of Long Beach. She was a member of St. Thomas Catholic Church in Long Beach, St. Margaret's Daughters and was a former member of the Parish Council.

She graduated from Long Beach High School and attended Massey Business College in Houston. Miss Boggs previously owned a general insurance agency in Long Beach and was a real estate broker.

She was a member of Long Beach Garden Club and Long Beach Yacht Club and was a former member of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Mississippi Real Estate Commission. In 1962, she became a director of Security Savings and Loan in Gulfport, in charge of the insurance and tax division. She became secretary of the association in 1971 and after retirement, remained on the board of directors.

Survivors include three brothers, William Boggs Jr. of Long Beach, the Rev. Robert Boggs and Archie Boggs, both of New Orleans; one sister, Mrs. Claire Morrison of Long Beach; and her sister-in-law, Rep. Lindy Boggs of New Orleans and Washington, D.C.

Visitation will be held today from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. at Lang Funeral Home in Gulfport, with recitation of the rosary at 8. A procession will leave the funeral home Monday at 10:45 a.m. and go to St. Thomas Catholic Church in Long Beach for Mass to be celebrated at 11. Burial will follow in Long Beach Cemetery.

The family prefers memorials to St. Thomas Catholic Church in Long Beach or a favorite charity.

MARGUERITE FERCHAUD
 Marguerite B. Ferchaud, 78, 113 Seal Ave., Pass Christian, died Wednesday, July 27, 1988, in Bay St. Louis.

Ms. Ferchaud was a native of New Orleans and a retired attorney.

President approves three Vets Bills

WASHINGTON—President Reagan has signed into law three major bills designed to improve veterans' programs and surprised many Capitol Hill lawmakers with his approval of an atomic veterans compensation measure despite a recommended veto from top Administration officials.

"Practically every program administered by the Veterans Administration is affected by the President's actions today," said Rep. G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery, Chairman of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee. "We are pleased that the President has seen fit to recognize the importance of these programs by sustaining an overwhelming Congressional mandate for improvements."

The President's signature cleared the way for the Veterans Administration to begin paying compensation benefits to certain veterans who were exposed to ionizing radiation while in service. Under the provisions of the new law, the VA will presume that 13 cancer-related conditions are service-connected, thus compensable, for veterans who participated in certain programs.

Other newly-enacted provisions include reinstatement of the travel allowance for certain veterans who need financial assistance to get to the nearest VA medical facility; an entitlement to VA outpatient care for atmospheric nuclear tests or in the occupations of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan.

Commenting on the President's nod of approval for the atomic veterans bill, Montgomery said, "It was definitely unexpected. White house staff and VA officials had lobbied against the measure, even in recent days. But I am confident that we could have successfully overridden a veto. In the same way that the President displayed his independence in endorsing the VA cabinet bill over the recommendations of his staff, he has again chosen to honor America's veterans by signing these measures into law."

certain veterans; improved benefits for former prisoners of war; a repeal of the planned transition of Vietnam veteran readjustment counseling centers to VA hospital grounds; pay incentives to recruit and retain nurses at VA medical facilities; an extension of an innovative veterans' job training program and other employment-related service improvements.

1988 hurricane season a time to be prepared

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Those who have been in the eye of a hurricane will tell you the silence can be terrifying. One of nature's strangest phenomenon occurs when the calm winds and clear skies of a hurricane's eye briefly replace the hurricane force winds and torrential rains which occurred moments before.

In the deceptive center of the storm, the air can be absolutely still. But the calm will end suddenly, winds will rise rapidly, and the fury and destruction will begin again.

Some weather observers view the past couple of years of hurricane activity as deceptively calm after seven hurricane landfalls in 1985, the most active hurricane season since 1916.

Last year, three hurricanes and four tropical storms formed along the U.S. coastline, with only Hurricane Floyd and one unnamed tropical storm striking the continental United States. Total property damage incurred was $8 million, compared to $1 billion caused by the six hurricanes and four tropical storms which form in the Atlantic in an average hurricane season.

The Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) is cautioning uninsured property owners in hurricane prone areas not to underestimate the destructive force of a hurricane. More than one major storm might make landfall in 1988 and flooding, resulting from storm surge and torrential rains, is usually the most destructive part of a hurricane.

According to Federal Insurance Administrator Harold T. Duryee, most property owners do not realize the limitations of their present insurance coverage.

Although their homeowners' policies will cover them for hurricane wind damage, these same policies specifically exclude damage resulting from storm surge and flooding.

Unless a property owner purchases insurance through the federal government's National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) flood damage to property is not covered.

The flood insurance program is administered by FIA, part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Flood insurance is available in nearly 18,000 communities participating in the NFIP and can be purchased through any licensed property and casualty insurance agent.

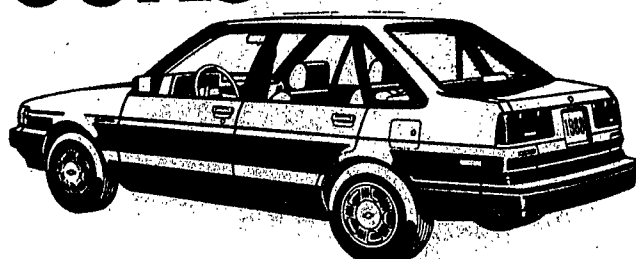

To make the purchase of flood insurance more convenient, many private insurance companies also offer coverage under their own names, through arrangements with FIA.

The coverage and cost of flood insurance is the same, whether the policy is written directly with the NFIP or through one of

GUARD FACTS
 What is the difference between the State Guard and the National Guard?
 A. The National Guard is a dual-purpose, federally funded, state-operated military organization responsible for the state's security and tranquility but capable of being mobilized in a national emergency. If the National Guard is mobilized for federal service, the State Guard has responsibility for providing for the state's needs in cases of natural disasters, civil disturbances and other breaches of the state's security or tranquility.

P&H Commission to buy Port Bienville property

BY D.C. HARVILL
The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission at its meeting Monday authorized the purchase of two lots in the commission-overseen Port Bienville Industrial Park.

After learning their $104,000 bid for the property had been accepted, the commission authorized Director Harold "Buz" Olsen to enter into a purchase agreement with the owner and bankrupt park tenant, Marine Concrete.

The commission agreed to buy the property provided soil tests prove it is free of hazardous materials.

The commission feels the tests are necessary to avoid the risk of becoming involved in a situation similar to one in which the county recently was billed $198,000 by the EPA for a 1985 cleanup of hazardous waste left by a former park tenant.

The commission also stipulated that a clear title must be available on the property and to that end authorized commission attorney Robert Genin to run a title search.

The two five acre parcels on the park's turning basin are considered crucial to future development at the park.

The commission intends to relocate a coal unloading operation, currently operating at a soon to be renovated bulkhead at the turning basin, to part of the 10 acres.

In other business the commission:

Olsen informed the commission that the channel at Bayou Cadet will be dredged free of charge by the Corp of Engineers because disposal of the dredged material would be allowed in an open water area near the mouth of the bayou.

Accepted a bid of $14.95 a piece on cross-ties for repairs to the Port Bienville Railroad.

—Agreed to channel funds saved by shortening the length of a bulkhead to be constructed at Bayou Cadet into the paving of the county owned parking lot at the bayou.

—Presented a commendation, signed by all members of the commission, to Sun-Herald reporter Edith Back on the

Supervisors approve sale of old hospital site

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has approved a proposed sale of the Hancock General Hospital building.

The old hospital, which has been vacant since March 1987 and failed to attract any bids at all after two advertisements, is expected to fetch $400,000 for the county if the buyers approve minor changes in the sale agreement, Board Attorney Gerald Gex said on Friday.

The buyer is Southern Health Enterprises, Inc., a Wisconsin-based firm that will operate a personal care home for the elderly in the facility.

The sale, which received unanimous approval from the supervisors, was negotiated by Barbara Stewart of Commercial Realty Associates. It includes the hospital grounds, the old county home building currently occupied by the county forestry office and the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, the water tower behind the hospital and a metal building used as a warehouse for the Women, Infants and Children nutrition program.

The county will negotiate a lease for the old county home until a proposed multi-purpose building on the fairgrounds property is funded and completed. The State Health Department, which operates WIC, will negotiate a lease on the metal building.

The price was less than the original appraisal on the building two years ago, which was $500,000, but the old hospital has since deteriorated through vacancy and vandalism, Gex said.

Board President and Beat Two Supervisor Ronald Cuevas said the price was the best of the offers the board has received since trying to bid the sale. One was from the Bay-Waveland School District and was only $100,000.

Another was received earlier this year but the firm making the offer failed to obtain a certificate of need to operate a nursing home in the facility.

A certificate of need is not necessary for the type of home that Southern Health Enterprises wants to operate, which will include 60 beds and is designed for patients who are basically ambulatory but need assistance with such needs as administering medication. The facility is expected to have 60 beds.

In addition, Southern Health Enterprises is pursuing a certificate of need for a 60-bed nursing home planned as an addition to the existing facility.

The county has agreed to a 10-year property tax exemption, not including school district taxes, if Southern Health guarantees a minimum employment of seven people.

The county has also agreed to help the firm pursue a city tax exemption and any needed zoning changes.

Cuevas said the county had a special use zoning on the facility and was not certain whether the zoning had reverted to residential three, which allows some types of businesses, during the time the building has been vacant.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. Monday in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Quotables by CUEVAS

Many of our political leaders were disappointed with NASA's announcement that the Advanced Solid Rocket Motor project would be going to the abandoned Yellow Creek Nuclear Power Plant in Tishomingo County.

Our leaders were hoping the project would be located here in Hancock County at the Stennis Space Center.

The project has been split and Stennis Space Center will do the engine testing, small parts will be built at the Michoud Assembly Center and the project will also utilize support from NASA's Slidell Computer Complexes.

From everything we have heard prior to the announcement, Stennis Space Center was the prime contender for the project, but one must realize governmental funds are used to fund the rocket and this all involves politics.

One the bright side, Hancock County could have been left out entirely, and with some of the work at Stennis Space Center, Slidell and Michoud, our area will definitely benefit from the project.

Best of luck goes to Edith Bierhorst Back on her retirement from the ranks of area journalists.

Edith served as bureau chief for the Sun-Herald in Hancock County for seven years.

We know she has been looking forward to her retirement and now she will have a chance to do many of those things as a working person she had been unable to in the past.

All we can say, Edith, is we know you have earned your retirement by burning the candle many a night, and by proving yourself to be an asset to our profession.

Governor's Column

By Gov. Ray Mabus

This has been an exciting week in Mississippi, and two events make it abundantly clear that Mississippi is on the move.

First, it was announced that up to 2,000 permanent high technology, high paying jobs will probably come to Mississippi with the location of Space Shuttle rocket production and testing facilities in our state.

NASA said it expects to locate a rocket production facility at the abandoned Yellow Creek nuclear power plant at Iuka in Tishomingo County. The rockets made there will be tested at the Stennis Space Center in Hancock County.

Pak construction employment will be from 2,500 to 3,000, and NASA's capital investment will be an estimated $600 million.

The new jobs alone are reason to celebrate, but there is another reason why we all should be proud: The location of this facility in Mississippi proves that we can compete for the very best jobs available in this country.

A key to attracting this project was cooperation among officials at all levels of government—federal, state and local. I agree with our new state economic development director, J. Mac Holladay, who said this is a "win-win" situation for Mississippi.

The location of this project in Mississippi is a glimpse of the future. We can and must build on this success to attract more high quality jobs for our state.

A second event represents a major step toward streamlining state government so that it will work better and at less cost for taxpayers.

The Executive Branch Reorganization Commission recommended that Mississippi's 150 state agencies, boards and commissions be consolidated into 12 agencies.

The commission estimates that there is a potential savings of up to $60 million a year.

I am studying the report carefully, and will make my own recommendations very shortly.

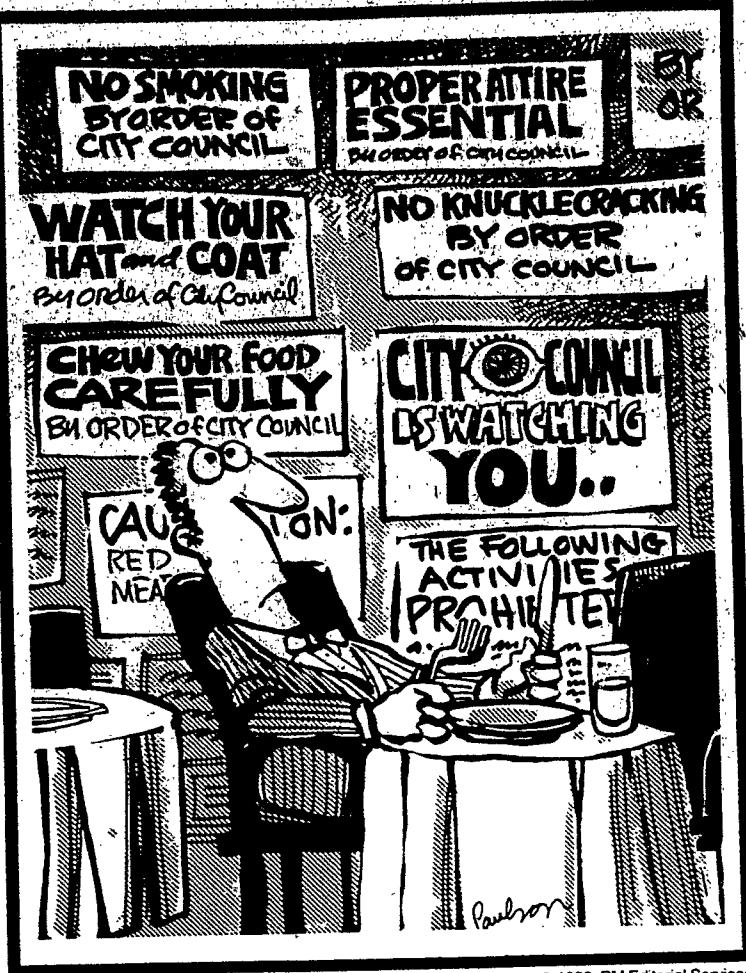

Although I must study the specific of the report, I strongly support the concept of shrinking the size of state government.

One of the commission's findings was that the executive branch of state government is highly fragmented. As a result, there is little coordination, and duplication, inefficiency and a lack of accountability.

The commission also found that Mississippi has more state and local government employees per capita than all southern states except Georgia.

I think it is important for state government to be as responsive and efficient as possible, just as it is for county government.

Mississippi's potential is limitless, and these changes in state and county government will help Mississippi achieve its true potential.

The President's Column

THE MOSCOW SUMMIT

By Ronald Reagan

I am writing this in advance of my fourth set of face-to-face talks in three years with Soviet General Secretary Gorbachev. Through our conversations, U.S.-Soviet relations have moved forward on the basis of frankness and realism. This relationship has not rested on any single issue, but has been built on a sturdy four-part agenda that includes human rights, regional conflicts, arms reduction and bilateral exchanges.

What has been achieved in this brief span of time offers great hope for a brighter future and a safer world.

Through Western firmness and resolve, we concluded the historic I.N.F. Treaty that provides for the global elimination of an entire class of U.S. and Soviet intermediate-range nuclear missiles.

Soviet armed forces are now withdrawing from Afghanistan, an historic event that should lead finally to peace, self-determination, and healing for that long-suffering people, and to an independent and undivided Afghanistan.

It is also encouraging to hear General Secretary Gorbachev speak forthrightly about "glasnost" and "perestroika"—openness and restructuring in the Soviet Union—words that to Western ears have a particularly welcome sound. And since he began his campaign, we can list developments that the free world heartily applauds.

We have seen many well-known prisoners of conscience released from harsh labor camps or strict internal exile, courageous people like Josef Begun and Andrei Sakharov.

Soviet authorities have permitted the publication of books, like Dr. Zhivago, and the distribution of movies, such as Repentance, that are critical of aspects of the Soviet past and present.

Greater emigration has been allowed. Greater dissent is being tolerated. And recently, General Secretary Gorbachev has promised to grant a measure of religious freedom to the peoples of the Soviet Union.

All this is new and good. But at the same time, there is another list that the West cannot ignore. While there are improvements, the basic structure of the system has not changed in the Soviet Union or the Eastern Europe, and there remain significant violations of human rights and freedoms.

In Asia, Africa and Central America, unpopular regimes use Soviet arms to oppress their own people and commit aggression against neighboring states. These regional conflicts extract a terrible toll of suffering and threaten to draw the United States and the Soviet Union into direct confrontation.

These and related concerns will be at the top of my agenda in the days ahead. I shall say, among other things, that the Soviet Union should fully honor the Helsinki Accords.

In view of that document, signed in Helsinki in 1975, it is difficult to understand why almost 13 years later, cases of divided families and blocked marriages should remain on the East-West agenda; or why Soviet citizens who wish, by right, to emigrate should not be able to do so.

And there are other issues: the recognition of those who wish to practice their religious beliefs, and the release of all prisoners of conscience.

In working for a safer world and a brighter future for all people, we know arms agreements alone will not make the world safer—we must also reduce the reasons for having arms. As I said to General Secretary Gorbachev when we first met in 1985, we do not mistrust each other because we are armed; we are armed because we mistrust each other.

History has taught us that it is not weapons that cause war, but the nature and conduct of the governments that wield the weapons. So when we encourage Soviet reform, it is with the knowledge that democracy not only guarantees human rights, but also helps prevent war, and, in truth, is a form of arms control. So, really, our whole agenda has one purpose, to protect peace, freedom and life itself.

We would like to see positive changes in the USSR institutionalized so that they will become lasting features of Soviet society. And I would like to see more Soviet young people come here to experience and learn from our society.

And that is why we are ready to work with the Soviets—to praise and criticize, and work for greater contact, and for change. Because that is the path to lasting peace, greater freedom, and a safer world.

Hidden addicts abuse prescriptions

NEW ORLEANS—The elderly woman had been taking a fair-sized dose of valium for almost ten years. Sometimes when her current doctor refused to prescribe the drug she insisted she needed, she changed doctors.

The young business executive suffered from frequent "migrane" headaches which only a dose of demerol could help. Sometimes, he admitted he even feigned a headache in order to get the prescription for the drug.

Both are hidden drug abusers. They are not the typical street addicts. No reporting is done on their addiction so there is no way of telling how numerous they are. They do not think of themselves as addicted.

Frequently their addiction is not discovered until they come into a hospital for an unrelated illness or surgery and exhibit withdrawal symptoms, says Dr. Andrew H. Mebane, the psychiatrist who heads the drug abuse program at the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans.

"These are people who would never believe abused drugs. At one time they may have been given appropriate medication for their complaints, perhaps this included pain, or anxiety

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—Talk about politics coming full circle. I saw a classic example of it last week in the Mississippi delegation at the Democratic National Convention in Atlanta.

In effect, the Jesse Jackson forces in the Mississippi delegation tried to bring back the old 'unit rule' which was in vogue during the days when white segregationists were in firm control of the state party contingent in the national convention.

Traditionally in the old days of all-white Mississippi delegations to the national convention, delegates were bound beforehand by the state Democratic Convention to vote the 'unit rule.'

This meant that every time the state's delegation voted in the national convention on a candidate or on some other question all the delegation votes would be cast unanimously for the person or issue getting a majority of the votes in the delegation.

The unit rule was part of the strategy used by Southern Democrats to bring their maximum strength to bear on blocking the nomination of a presidential candidate, or a platform plank not to their liking on the matter of racial segregation.

Not wanting to endanger antagonizing the South, the national party rules permitted each state delegation to use its own rules for voting in the national convention.

But that all changed after the 1964 convention. And the historic challenge brought by black Democrats from Mississippi had a lot to do with it. The national convention rules in 1968 outlawed the unit rule being used by any state delegation.

Ever since, each delegate has had the right to have his individual vote counted, regardless of how other delegates may vote.

That's why it was ironic when some black supporters of Jesse Jackson, including state Rep. Aaron Henry of Clarksdale, got up at a caucus of the Mississippi delegation and seriously proposed that all the state's 47 votes be cast for Jackson on the first roll call as a gesture of appreciation for his candidacy.

Then, went the proposal, Mississippi would seek recognition before the balloting had ended and would switch its vote unanimously for Michael Dukakis.

But white delegate Frank Barber, who had been a lone supporter of John F. Kennedy as a Mississippi delegate back in 1960, warned that a similar plan had back-fired back then. Barber, overrun under the unit rule by the forces of Gov. Ross Barnett, said the entire 1960 Mississippi vote was cast on the first roll call for Barnett for president, with the idea it would switch on the next roll call to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

"We never got a chance, and the records of that convention still show that Mississippi cast its votes for Ross Barnett for president," Barber declared.

The 'All for Jesse' scheme was laid to rest overnight after the national convention rules were checked and the prohibition against any delegation using the unit rule was unmistakably found to be right there.

"I cannot understand that the same people who fought to do away with the unit rule now would think there is a way by a majority vote to bind the whole delegation," Barber remarked.

This writer recalls how the unit rule, once also quite fashionable in the Mississippi Republican party, turned into a trap for Ronald Reagan supporters back in 1976 when they were arm-wrestling with backers of President Ford to garner the state's presidential delegates.

Even though the National Republican Convention rules for years had provided that the unit rule could not be enforced in a state delegation, Mississippi's GOP since 1964 had operated under a unit rule by gentleman's agreement.

In the Reagan-Ford showdown in 1976, the Reagan forces were confident they had a majority in the Mississippi delegation and would get all the state's votes for their candidate at the Kansas City convention under the unit rule.

But Gill Carmichael of Meridian, who had made a formidable GOP bid for governor in 1975, announced beforehand that he would not honor the unit rule, and would vote for Ford, regardless.

At Kansas City the Mississippi delegation became a highly-sought-after prize by both Reagan and Ford. When the delegation finally voted, it was 16 for Ford and 14 for Reagan, and the unit rule went out the window.

Introducing Our New One And A Half Million Dollar Baby.

A Brand New Maternity Center That Will Surround Your Baby With Luxury.

Our new maternity center is open. And, frankly, we feel a lot like proud parents. Because we've spared no expense in creating a facility for welcoming babies that lives up to every parent's highest expectations.

Better Than A Silver Spoon

We designed and built our maternity center to give your baby every advantage—when every advantage counts most.

First, we made sure our basics were exceptional: all-private rooms for all mothers, a choice of either homelike combination labor/delivery/recovery rooms or traditional labor and delivery suites, a delivery room for Caesarian births, two well baby nurseries and a newborn intensive care unit for babies who need special attention, a classroom for pre-natal instruction, a lounge for parents and visitors. And, while we welcome dads in delivery, we've also set aside a special waiting area with plenty of room to pace in comfort.

We furnished our new maternity center with the most advanced support technology available today. For convenience and efficiency, we put everything on one floor in a unit with its own lobby entrance. At NorthShore, there's no elevator ride, no long walk through the hospital, no confusion about where you are or where you're going.

The Best For The Best Of Times

Some people might say we went overboard in providing so many exceptional amenities. But, considering that a child's birth is one of life's treasured events and true miracles, we don't think so.

That's why our new maternity center isn't just adequate, it's luxurious.

You'll see what we mean from the moment we greet you at the door. For example, you might mistake our handsomely appointed lobby for the foyer of a fine hotel. You'll find our rooms are not only private—they're bright, fresh and airy, and they're every bit as comfortable as they look. We set aside a generous amount of space for our lounge and waiting areas and located them for easy access from our drive-up entrance as well as from all areas of the unit itself.

We spent a lot of time and effort to surround you and your new baby with a level of amenities you won't find elsewhere. And we're certainly proud of the result. But luxury's not the best thing about our new maternity center.

Better Yet, The Best Care

We've staffed our maternity center with people who are dedicated to providing the best possible care. We've given them the equipment they need and, just as important, a commitment to service that goes far beyond building an exceptional facility.

But that's nothing new.

We've always been known for the little things we do that make a big difference. Things like treating you to a private room at no extra charge. Preparing you for parenthood with informational (and enjoyable) childbirth classes. Lending you a beeper during the last month of pregnancy to make sure that out of sight isn't out of touch. Performing free examinations whenever your own doctor is unavailable.

What's more, we don't stop caring after you leave the hospital. We send a professional housekeeper to your home to do your chores and cooking for five days. We even send you out for a night on the town when you're ready to celebrate.

We've Saved The Best For Last.

Despite the fact that we spared no expense in building, equipping and staffing our new maternity center, it's not as expensive as you might think.

In fact, our prices are currently the lowest in the entire New Orleans metropolitan area. And, while certain packages involve conditions we'll be happy to explain fully in person or over the phone, they all include all the extras we've described here.

So the best thing about our maternity center is that you and your baby can have the best of everything at the best price anywhere. And that's one luxury you can hardly afford to do without.

Find out more about our one and a half million dollar pride and joy, and the difference it can make when your own new baby arrives on the scene.

Ladner resigns Friday, apologizes for wrongs

BY DENA BISNETTE
Hancock County Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner has resigned as part of a plea bargain arrangement in his "Operation Pretense" conviction.

ROGER DALE LADNER

Ladner, who entered a guilty plea June 9 to charges of extortion and mail fraud in connection with acceptance of $597 in kickbacks, was complying with a federal court order requiring his resignation by July 31. He submitted a letter to the board Friday and asked Board Attorney Gerald Gex to read it to the other supervisors. The three-paragraph letter contained a public apology. It stated, "I would like for you to accept my resignation as supervisor district #3, Hancock County, effective July 31, 1988." "I would also like to take this opportunity to publicly apologize to my family for the pain and embarrassment I have caused them and also apologize to my constituents, friends and fellow Hancock Countians."

"I am sincerely sorry for betraying the public trust that you have bestowed on me. I ask that you search your mind and heart and forgive me for the wrong I have done." Ladner received the praise of several public officials in cluding Gex and Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, who thanked him for his past assistance to the school district, and Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Franckiewicz Jr., who thanked him for his past assistance to the city. Ladner stated that he would miss public service. He faces up to 25 years in jail and a fine of up to $500,000. Sentencing is set for Sept. 6.

Two Bay St. Louis women have been charged with drug violations following seizure of 17 bags of marijuana, several joints and other drugs.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Glen Strong said Dianne Sells, 41, and Linda Bourgeois, 33, both of 516 Easterbrook Street, were arrested at about 11:45 p.m. Thursday and charged with possession of controlled substance with intent to distribute. Both were jailed on $5,000 bond each.

Officers involved in the search of the residence and the arrest included Constable Gary Bennett and Deputies Matt Karl, Steve Garber and Gregg Lichtenstein. Strong is in charge of the investigation.

BLUES PIONEERS

It has been called the powerful, bitter poetry of a hard-pressed people, the music that, once heard, can never be forgotten.

"The Blues" were inspired by the lamentations of hard times, the lost love, and the loneliness and deprivation that shaped the lives of rural black Mississippians.

The music and the stories of these pioneers are presented in "The Land Where the Blues Began," at 1 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 4 on Mississippi ETV.

This hour-long television tour through rural Mississippi provides a sampling of some of the songs that comprise the blues.

Bay High's Williams retiring from football

After 17 years of coaching in the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District, Bay Senior High Head Coach Cleveland Williams is giving up football.

Williams, who said he has had much success during his tenure at Bay Junior High and Bay Senior High, said his 20 years of coaching football have been "a rewarding experience."

He will continue coaching the boys and girls track programs at Bay High and to work on his master's degree.

"It wasn't an easy decision for me to make, but my health and old injuries I sustained while playing sports in high school and college have affected my ability to perform at 100 percent," Williams stated.

"I have enjoyed the years I spent in the football program and I will continue to support the Tiger athletics and coaching staff in any way I can to keep the Tigers on top."

"It will be a change for me because in the past my family has always come second to my football program."

"This will give me more time to spend with my wife, Rosie, who has hung by my side for 20 years through good times and bad in relation to football," he added.

He also said he wants to spend more time with his daughter Lawankia and his son Cleveland.

Williams said that although he is giving up coaching football at the high school, he hopes to included Gayle McRaney, Gary Griffin and Robert Lumpkin, his record was 28 wins and 13 losses.

Lumpkin will succeed Williams as head coach with Coach Dodd Lee from Picayune as his assistant.

"I would like to thank the fans for their support and the booster club for its support and generosity. You all have been an inspiration to my staff and me with all the success we have had in football over the years," Williams said.

"I urge the Tiger fans and supporters to give the team their support this season, and we will need a strong booster club again this year to help the Tigers in all athletics."

"I must say thank you again for all the support you have given me."

Ask Ochsner What are 'chiggers'?

Q. My son recently returned from a camping trip and his legs were covered with bright red bites which were very itchy. I'm told these were chigger bites. What are chiggers and how can we avoid the bites in the future?

A. During the summer when outdoor activities, such as camping and hiking, become more prevalent, chances are that you may be burdened by one of the most common summer pests—chiggers.

Chiggers, or red bugs as they are often called, are tiny mites that lay clusters of eggs in grassy or bushy areas.

Dr. Jeffery Frey, an internist at the Ochsner Clinic in New Orleans, says that generally, the egg-laying adult chiggers do not bother humans—it is their offspring that do.

Tiny chigger larvae hatch and attach themselves to your skin as you walk through the grassy areas.

Usually the chiggers will attach to areas which are covered with elastic, such as the tops of socks, underwear or other constricting clothing.

Chigger bites will not appear until two to three days after exposure. The blister will be red in color and slightly swollen.

The best way to treat chigger bites, Dr. Frey says, is to coat the bites with clear fingernail polish or fingernail polish remover. The chemicals in the products smother the larvae.

However, it will still take a couple of days for the bites to heal.

To prevent chigger bites in the future, he says, particularly if you plan to go camping or participate in outdoor activities, it is best to wear clothing with closures at the wrists and ankles and spray your skin with insect repellent.

If you become ill with a fever or rash when camping or after any outdoor activity, see your doctor as soon as possible. It may be necessary to take antihistamines or other prescribed medicine depending on the severity of the condition.

commissioners, have resigned because we petitioned that taxpayers of the district mainly for water and sewerage since fire protection was already in effect.

"We will not be responsible for the four mills being collected from each property owner that will be used only for fire protection."

The letter stated that the resigning commissioners had been informed by the board that no monies had been appropriated for the other purposes.

The commission drew fire from the fire department and members of the public shortly after the previous board of supervisors approved creation of the district in 1986.

One Bayou Phillip resident, Martin DeSalvo, took the matter to court. He disagreed with the way the commissioners had been selected, saying an election should have been held and recommendations made to board based on the results.

The names of the original commissioners were contained in the document requesting creation of the district and were not read publicly before approval.

The county had frozen the funds for the district after learning that the previous commissioners had intended to use them for water and sewerage improvements, for which state laws on fire districts have no provisions.

In order to provide the county time to obtain bonds on the new commissioners, the fire district meeting has been moved to the second Thursday of August.

Quick action can be a heart attack lifesaver

Dr. Joseph Litner, medical director of Hancock Medical Center's Emergency Room reminds us "heart attacks can happen to anyone."

In fact, many people suffer the symptoms of a heart attack and either fail to recognize them or refuse to acknowledge them.

By familiarizing yourself with the symptoms of a heart attack, you can avoid delaying treatment, which can result in a more severe heart attack or even death. Recognizing the symptoms and knowing what to do when they occur, could save your life, or the life of a friend or family member.

The usual warning signals of heart attack are:

- Uncomfortable pressure, fullness or pain in the middle of the chest for more than two minutes.
- Spreading of pain to shoulders, neck or arms.
- Severe pain, dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea or shortness of breath.

The severity of the pain of heart attack varies with individuals. Some are so mild that you may think it is indigestion. Not all of these warning signs are always present, and some may subside and then return. But, if you or someone around you suffers from any of these symptoms, get help immediately. Do not wait!

What do you do if someone around you experiences chest discomfort for more than two minutes?

The first thing you should do is call Mobile Medic Ambulance Service for help. Do not drive yourself to the hospital!

Second, be prepared for denial of a problem. It is natural for people to refuse to admit that they are having a heart attack. Finally, if you are certified in CPR, be ready to administer mouth-to-mouth breathing and chest compression, if needed.

Dr. Litner says, "The best action to take in dealing with a heart attack is preventive action." Know the symptoms of heart attack, and how to recognize them. Post emergency phone numbers near all the phones in your home.

Finally, become trained and certified in perhaps the most important lifesaving instruction you can receive—CPR. These preventions could make the incidence of a heart attack a little less frightening and save someone's life.

How to assess your heart attack risk

Heart attack is the leading cause of death in America, striking more than half a million people. A heart attack results when coronary arteries are no longer able to supply the heart with enough blood, due to the buildup of fatty deposits. You can avoid heart attacks. The first step in prevention is knowing the risk factors.

According to Dr. James Crittenden, the following risk factors cannot be changed:

- Family history of heart disease.
- If you are male, you are more at risk than female.
- Black Americans, due to higher occurrence of high blood pressure, are more at risk.
- Over age 65 your risk increases; for three of every four people who die of heart attacks are in this group.

If you fit into any of the above four categories, your chance of heart attack is increased.

There are other heart attack risk factors which you can change. To guard against a heart attack and reduce your risk of heart disease Dr. Crittenden advises:

- Quit smoking. No matter how long or how much you have smoked, quitting will reduce your risk.
- Control high blood pressure. High blood pressure is a major risk factor. Have your blood pressure checked regularly and follow physician's instructions.
- Reduce cholesterol intake.
- Keep your diabetes in check. Follow your doctor's instructions.

Three contributing factors which can lead to a heart attack are obesity, lack of exercise and stress.

Now that you know the factors involved, assess your heart attack risk. You can significantly reduce your chance of having a heart attack. Consult your physician for a plan to alter or eliminate your heart attack risk factors.

HEART ATTACK QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Here are answers to common questions about heart attacks. Understanding the risk factors and symptoms of heart attacks may help reduce the number of deaths caused each year.

Q: How many Americans suffer heart attacks?

A: According to the American Heart Association, 1.5 million each year; one-third of these are fatal.

Q: What are the major causes of heart attacks?

A: Atherosclerosis is a common underlying cause of heart attacks. It occurs when fatty substances build up over years in the artery walls. These deposits can cause blood clots to form—these clots cause 86 percent of heart attacks.

Q: What are the symptoms of a heart attack?

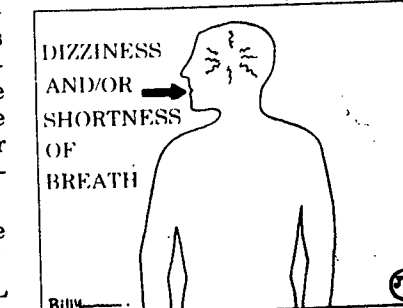

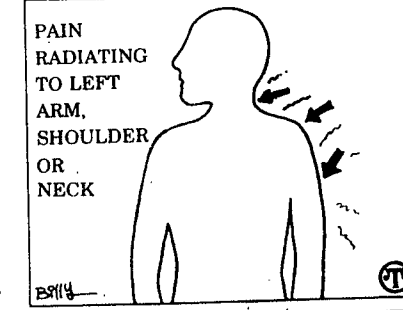

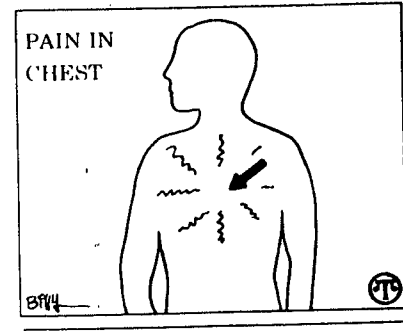

A: They include pain in the chest, radiating to the shoulders, neck or arms; shortness of breath and dizziness. Other symptoms—such as sweating, nausea or a feeling of intense anxiety—can be more subtle and difficult to recognize, and are often confused with more minor health problems such as indigestion.

Q: What should a person do if he or she experiences these symptoms?

A: SEEK IMMEDIATE MEDICAL ATTENTION. Call 911 or your local fire department for an ambulance. Often, due to fear, people deny the symptoms or postpone treatment until several hours after warning signs begin. Yet, the best chance for recovery lies in receiving early medical attention.

Q: What type of therapies are available to treat patients if they get to the hospital early?

A: Certain clot-dissolving agents are effective in treating heart attacks in the first few hours after the onset of symptoms. One such agent is Activase® (Alteplase, recombinant), a tissue plasminogen activator (t-PA). When administered early in the course of a heart attack, it is very effective in dissolving clots before the heart muscle is permanently damaged and improves the function of the heart after an attack. (Because it dissolves clots, Activase® can cause bleeding that is usually minor and easily controlled. There is also a small risk of serious internal bleeding, such as intracranial hemorrhage. This occurs in 0.4 percent of patients. Therefore certain patients, particularly those at high risk of hemorrhage, stroke or high blood pressure, should not receive this type of therapy.) The product was developed and is marketed by Genentech, Inc.

Seek immediate medical attention if you experience these symptoms of a heart attack.

Experience is key to heart program success

More than 300 heart surgeries have been performed since Slidell Memorial Hospital and Medical Center performed its first by-pass surgery August 8, 1985.

Although diagnostic cardiovascular testing has been performed at SMH for years, the August, 1985, surgical procedure marked the beginning of the full-service SMH heart program which provides the most technologically advanced patient treatment available in medicine from the first sign of chest pain through an extensive rehabilitation program.

According to Pat Marks, RN, CCVT, the heart program allows a patient "to have all treatment provided at the same hospital, his community hospital."

Marks explained that patients experiencing chest pain or changes in their EKG are stress tested and a determination is made whether blockage exists in the heart. If such blockage exists, an angioplasty balloon procedure or by-pass surgery may be performed.

After surgery, patients have the opportunity to enroll in the SMH cardiac conditioning program, a three-phase process in which medical and surgical cardiac patients recovering from heart attack, heart surgery or other cardiac-related problems receive individualized recovery exercise, education and nutritional counseling program.

She noted that the opening of the SMH cardiac catheterization lab at SMH in 1985 was the enabling factor in establishing the full-service heart program.

More than 1,600 procedures have been performed in the Cath Lab since the first patient was seen in May, 1985.

Heart Answers

WHAT IS A HEART ATTACK?

A heart attack is the death of a portion of heart muscle that may result in disability or death, depending on how much of the heart is damaged. It occurs when an obstruction in one of the coronary arteries prevents the blood from supplying oxygen to the heart muscle. Heart attack symptoms may include chest pain, nausea and shortness of breath. The risk of heart attack can be reduced by treating high blood pressure, avoiding cigarette smoking, observing a low cholesterol diet and maintaining normal body weight.

WHAT IS A PACEMAKER?

The heart has a natural pacemaker that consists of a small mass of specialized cells producing electrical impulses that cause the heart to beat. An artificial pacemaker is an electrical device that can substitute for a defective natural pacemaker and control the heart's beat by a series of rhythmic electrical discharges. An artificial pacemaker is a small battery-powered unit usually implanted under the skin. It sends electrical impulses through tiny wires to the heart to control the heart's rate and rhythm of contraction. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

WHAT IS HARDENING OF THE ARTERIES?

A common form of hardening of the arteries is atherosclerosis. It occurs when fatty deposits in the blood-stream build up on the inner walls of the arteries. People who have atherosclerosis are more likely to suffer a heart attack or stroke. The risk of developing atherosclerosis can be reduced by observing a diet low in saturated fats and cholesterol. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

Cholesterol and Your Health — Know Your Numbers

A routine visit to a physician by a healthy American adult might include having a blood sample drawn and analyzed. Usually the lab work is completed, the results are reported to the physician, and the numbers are recorded on the patient's chart.

The American Heart Association suggests that patients ask their physicians to discuss these results when they are available and understand what the tests are for and what the numbers mean.

One report the physician generally requests is cholesterol level. Cholesterol is a fat-like substance carried in the blood which comes from two sources. "Blood cholesterol" is produced primarily by the liver, while "dietary cholesterol" is found in foods from animals. These foods include egg yolks, meat, fish, poultry and whole milk dairy products such as ice cream and cheese. A certain amount of cholesterol is needed to generate hormones and cells.

However, when the blood cholesterol climbs above the desirable level, cholesterol can build up over a period of time with some other substances on the inner lining of blood vessels like rust in water pipes. During that time, the buildup can narrow those vessels, keeping sufficient oxygen-carrying blood from getting to the heart or brain. It is easy for a clot to form that will clog the vessels, cutting off the flow of blood. The result can be a heart attack or stroke.

To understand what the numbers resulting from a blood cholesterol test mean, first know that cholesterol is measured in milligrams per deciliter of blood, expressed as "mg/dl." Also be aware that the level varies depending on age, sex, and the presence of certain disease. If other risk factors are present — smoking, high blood pressure, diabetes, glucose imbalances, excess weight or a history of heart disease in the patient's family, the probability of having a heart attack increases regardless of the cholesterol level.

The American Heart Association considers a healthy American adult, 20 years or older, at "low risk" for cardiovascular disease when cholesterol measures 200 mg/dl or lower, if no other phase of cardiovascular disease or any other cardiovascular risk factors are present. The same adult is at "moderate risk" if cholesterol level is between 200 and 239 mg/dl, and at "high risk" with a reading of 240 mg/dl or higher.

If it is determined that a patient has a high cholesterol level, the AHA recommends that the physician determine the appropriate treatment. This will usually include a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet. The physician should also address other major risk factors, including smoking and high blood pressure.

More than 50 percent of middle-aged Americans have cholesterol levels 200 mg/dl and above. It is prudent for all adults to follow a heart-healthy, low-fat, low-cholesterol diet as a preventive measure.

Winterize Yourself With Winter Activity

Many Americans tend to think of winter as a time to hibernate. With the onset of cold weather, people often become less active than they are during the warmer months. Without the opportunity to play tennis, water ski, go bicycling or participate in other outdoor activities, people can easily become sedentary. This change in activity level can also lead to poor eating habits — overeating and indulging in high-calorie, high-fat snack foods.

This is especially true during the holiday season from October to January, when the number of social activities increases. Family gatherings and religious celebrations often include snacks, big meals and edible gifts. Frequently the results are weight gain and a general sense of feeling unfit.

The American Heart Association suggests you keep up some form of fitness program and maintain your ideal weight during the winter months. In fact, exercise can be an effective way to control appetite. Do, however, check with a physician before starting a regular exercise program, particularly if your lifestyle has been sedentary.

During the winter months there are alternatives to the traditional outdoor activities. Many community colleges and local universities offer a variety of exercise and sports classes through adult education or continuing education departments, usually at a very low cost.

Often high school gymnasiums are open to the public at no charge evenings and weekends during the winter. YMCAs, YWCAs, boys' clubs, girls' clubs and community centers generally offer a variety of fitness, exercise and sports classes and activities at a range of fees depending on location.

Bowling can be an enjoyable indoor activity that helps improve coordination and muscle tone while also helping relieve tension. Bowling instruction is available at most bowling centers at little or no cost. Some bowling centers also offer aerobics and other exercise programs during the day in conjunction with league bowling.

Outside exercises like skating and walking are good choices during the cooler months, as long as appropriate clothing is worn. For indoor walking, shopping malls provide an economical alternative for a brisk walk without the cold weather elements. Remember to wear comfortable shoes. The key word is brisk — no window shopping. Some malls have organized informal walking "clubs," which offer incentives from mall merchants and can provide a pleasant social experience.

Remember that good health is a year-round responsibility. Just because it is cold outside doesn't mean sensible habits should be forgotten. Find out where in the community facilities, activities and classes are available and keep up a regular, enjoyable and relaxing fitness program all year.

Creating a Smoke-Free Generation

The high school graduating class of 2000 is the target of a national campaign to end smoking among young Americans. In an effort to accomplish this goal, three national non-profit health organizations, the American Heart Association, American Cancer Society and American Lung Association have formed a coalition to achieve a "Tobacco-Free Young America."

The initial phase of the project is "Smoke-Free 2000," a program geared toward graduates of the year 2000. Currently pre-schoolers, these children will enter the first grade in the fall of 1988. Local tri-agency coalitions throughout the country will begin programs designed for this group of children. For the next 12 years, these children will symbolize the "first tobacco-free class." The children will be informed about the social stigmas and health risks associated with smoking and given encouragement not to start smoking.

"Smoke-Free 2000" focuses on children young enough to be influenced positively by the effort. More than half of high school seniors who currently smoke started smoking during ninth grade or earlier. About 75 percent of adult smokers get hooked during adolescence.

The tobacco industry targets advertising at young Americans, presenting smoking as a desirable and socially appealing activity. The tri-agency project emphasizes the elimination of these messages through bans or restrictions on tobacco advertising and promotion, including the distribution of free tobacco samples.

Another goal of the "Tobacco-Free Young America Project" is to affect legislation to regulate limitations on smoking in public places. Restriction of smoking in schools is a priority.

Speaking in support of a "Tobacco-Free Young America," Surgeon General C. Everett Koop commented, "We want to help young America become 'tobacco free' by the year 2000. And what's the significance of that goal? If we achieve it, that means... we will have rescued the young people of America from the preventable burden of smoking-related illness and death."

The goal of "Smoke-Free 2000," to prepare young people to make the correct decision regarding smoking, will require much hard work by educators and volunteers. The American Heart Association believes this goal can be achieved.

WHAT IS HYPERTENSION?

Hypertension is the medical term for high blood pressure. It occurs when the pressure the heart needs to pump blood is higher than normal. People who have untreated hypertension are more likely to suffer from heart disease and stroke. High blood pressure can be detected with regular blood pressure checks. The risk of heart disease and stroke can be reduced with treatment to control high blood pressure. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

WHAT IS RHEUMATIC FEVER?

Rheumatic fever is an inflammation that may affect the heart, joints, brain or skin. It is almost always the result of a strep throat infection and is accompanied by fever. The most serious result of rheumatic fever is damage to the heart valves. However, heart damage is not an inevitable result of rheumatic fever. The risk of rheumatic fever can be decreased by prompt medical treatment of strep throat infections. Anyone who has been a victim of the disease has an increased risk of recurrence, which can be diminished by long-term treatment with antibiotics. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

St. Tammany Parish's Pioneer in Cardiology Treatment.

In 1985, Slidell Memorial Hospital pioneered cardiology treatment in St. Tammany Parish with the development of the area's first comprehensive cardiac treatment and rehabilitation center. Since then, we've been recognized as the first hospital in St. Tammany Parish to perform bypass surgery, as well as the area's first hospital to perform cardiac catheterization. Today, Slidell Memorial continues to provide residents throughout the region with the specialized equipment and experienced professionals needed to handle all types of cardiology problems, from diagnosis to rehabilitation.

St. Tammany Parish's Most Experienced Cardiac Surgical Team.

Since opening our Cardiology Center, Slidell Memorial Hospital's Heart Team has performed over 2300 cardiology procedures and over 250 bypass surgeries. With many of the area's most experienced professionals, our Heart Team includes eight highly trained cardiac surgeons and cardiologists who lead a team of nearly 100 other heart specialists—cardiac technicians and nurses and rehabilitation therapists. Together, Slidell Memorial's Heart Team has the proven experience that counts in cardiac care.

St. Tammany Parish's Latest Cardiac Techniques and Technology.

Since opening in 1985, Slidell Memorial's Cardiology Center has maintained the latest in cardiac procedures and equipment. Our comprehensive cardiology services include:

Eating healthy is a heartwarming experience

Jamie Rodenbaugh, Hancock Medical Center's registered dietician, offers the following advice for heart-smart eating:

The foods you eat play a major part in keeping your heart healthy. Consumption of saturated fats leads to high blood cholesterol levels and fatty deposits, which are direct causes of heart attacks. So what can you do to give your heart a healthy diet?

First, limit your intake of saturated fats. These fats are found in animal products such as meat, cheese and butter. Some vegetables are also a source for saturated fats, such as cocoa butter, palm oil and coconut oil. Saturated fats are the most harmful to your heart because they raise cholesterol levels. They should be avoided when possible.

Mono-unsaturated fats, though having no effect on cholesterol levels, contain fat-dense calories. They, too, should be limited in consumption. Olives, olive oil, peanuts, peanut oil, peanut butter, pecans, cashews, almonds and avocados are sources of this type of fat.

Polyunsaturated fats should be substituted for saturated fats whenever possible. The difference in the two is that polyunsaturated fats are in liquid form at room temperature whereas saturated fats are solid. Polyunsaturated fats should constitute 20 percent of your calories, and can be found in vegetable oils such as sunflower, soybean, corn and sesame.

Total fat intake of the average individual should be no more than 30 percent of total calories. In order to eat your way to a healthy heart and reduce fat and cholesterol intake:

—Avoid fried foods. Try baked, broiled or roasted foods.

—Choose lean meats like fish and chicken instead of beef and pork.

—Use fat-free or low-fat dairy products.

—Increase consumption of fresh fruits and vegetables.

—Limit intake of caffeine-rich beverages.

—Moderate alcohol consumption.

—Remove skin from poultry and trim fat from meat.

—Use only the whites of eggs.

—Use ground round or ground chuck in place of ground beef, since they contain less fat.

Heart team focuses on education, support

"Heart helpers" are learning how to support medical and surgical cardiac patients recovering from heart attack, heart surgery, or other cardiac-related problems through a Cardiac Rehab Spouse Support Group at Slidell Memorial Hospital and Medical Center. They're also finding help there for themselves.

The Cardiac Rehab Spouse Support Group meets at 2 p.m. every Wednesday in Room 300 at Slidell Memorial Hospital. The one-hour weekly meeting provides an opportunity for 'support persons' to discuss with peers and professionals the successes and hardships they have encountered in caring for a heart disease patient. Assisting at Support Group meetings are Ron Melancon, director of Social Services at Slidell Memorial, and Connie Podesta, Slidell Memorial Guest Relations consultant.

Janice Taulli, Cardio-Pulmonary Rehab coordinator, explained that patient education and support are primary objectives of The Heart Team.

"What I'd like to try to do with this is get some of these people (patient alumni, spouses, etc.) involved," said Taulli, dubbing them 'heart helpers.'

Attendance at support group meetings has ranged from two to eight persons, a response Taulli finds encouraging considering this is only the first year the program has been available. Taulli feels there are many others in the Gulf Coast community who could benefit from the program.

"Especially the young ones," she said. "For many of them, it's the first time they've faced the possible death of their spouses and it's very frightening. This group validates the feelings they have." She stressed further that all Cardiac Rehab 'support persons' are welcome to participate in the support group meetings.

Slidell Memorial's Cardiac Reconditioning program is a three-phase process in which medical and surgical cardiac patients recovering from heart attack, heart surgery or other cardiac-related problems receive individualized recovery programs. "We try to make them more active as they move through the program," explained Taulli. "It's gradual. It's progressive."

In-hospital Phase I patients use low-level exercise to prevent complications from prolonged bedrest. In Phase II, outpatients continue the reconditioning process, in a closely supervised 12-week program which meets three times a week for one hour to exercise in the Sports Medicine and Fitness Center at Slidell Memorial Hospital.

The fitness regimen continues in Phase III. In Taulli's words, "Phase III is what they do the rest of their lives. What we do is try to stress continued compliance."

In addition to regular nutrition and fitness counseling, weight tracking, cholesterol, blood pressure and heart rate checks, members of the Cardiac Rehab program also participate in a variety of social services.

"We have a lot of alumni and we always encourage the spouses to join in," said Taulli, adding that it's not unusual to see a member of a spouse training in the Sport Medicine Center as the patient goes through his or her workout.

"They rely on it for their socialization. It becomes a big family in there every morning," said Taulli.

The Heart Team is headed by Dr. Ignatius Thomas.

"The Heart Team is anyone involved in the care of a heart patient at Slidell Memorial, the patient, his family, the surgeons. Intensive Care Unit, Step Down Unit, Physical Therapy, the nutritionist...anyone who has a part in the patient's progress," said Taulli.

MEXICAN CHICKEN SOUP

- 1 3-pound frying chicken, skinned and cut into serving pieces
- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 3/4 cup canned mildly hot California chilies, diced (or 1/2 cup for a milder flavored soup)
- 2 cups cooked, drained pinto beans or garbanzos

Place chicken pieces in a large saucepan. Add enough water to cover. Cook until tender, about 25 minutes.

Remove chicken pieces from the broth and put in the tomatoes, garlic, onion and chilies. Slide chicken meat off the bones and return meat to the broth. Add beans and simmer about 15 minutes.

Yield: about 2 quarts

CHILI CON CARNE

- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 pound lean ground beef
- 2 cups canned tomatoes
- 1 10 1/2-ounce can tomato soup
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 clove garlic, mashed
- 1 16-ounce can red kidney beans with liquid

Heat oil in a 10-inch skillet, then brown the green pepper, onion and ground beef in the oil, stirring occasionally. Add the tomatoes, tomato soup, paprika, cayenne pepper, bay leaf and chili powder. Cover, simmer over low heat for about 1 hour, stirring occasionally. (Add more water if the mixture becomes too thick.) Then add the garlic and kidney beans with liquid and heat thoroughly.

Yield: 6 servings

Approx. cal/serv.: 345

POACHED FISH

- |                                |                               |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 2 pounds fish fillets, skinned | freshly ground black pepper   |
| 2 tablespoons oil              | 1 bay leaf                    |
| 1 small onion, chopped         | 1 cup hot water or white wine |
| 1/4 cup chopped celery         | 2 sprigs parsley              |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice      |                               |

In a large shallow pan, sauté the onion and celery in oil until tender. Place skinned fillets on top of vegetables, or roll each fillet, secure with a toothpick, and place on vegetables. Add water or wine and seasonings. Cover and simmer about 8 minutes, or until fish flakes when tested with a fork.

Carefully transfer fillets to a heated platter. Serve with Lemon Parsley Sauce.

Yield: 8 servings Approx. cal/serv.: 200

LEMON PARSLEY SAUCE

- |  |                              |
|--|------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup margarine                            | 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind |
| juice of 1 large lemon (about 3 tablespoons) | 1 tablespoon chopped parsley |

Heat margarine and lemon juice in a saucepan. Add grated lemon rind. Pour over fish.

Yield: 3/4 cup Approx. cal/serv.: 1 tablespoon = 70

OATMEAL BREAD

- |                          |  |
|--------------------------|--|
| 1 1/2 cups boiling water | 1 package dry yeast                    |
| 1 cup rolled oats        | 1/4 cup warm water                     |
| 1 teaspoon salt          | 4-4 1/2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted |
| 1/4 cup light molasses   |  |
| 1 1/2 tablespoons oil    |  |

Pour the boiling water over the oatmeal. Add the salt, stir, and cool to lukewarm. Dissolve the yeast in the warm water, then add molasses, oil and dissolved yeast to the oatmeal mixture and gradually add the sifted flour until the dough is stiff enough to handle. Knead the dough on a lightly floured board for about 5 minutes or until dough is smooth and elastic.

Place dough in a lightly oiled bowl, turning to coat all sides of the dough with oil. Cover with a clean cloth and let rise in a warm place (about 85°F) until double in bulk.

Punch down the dough and knead again for a few minutes. Shape into a loaf and put it in a well-oiled 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Cover and let rise again (about 1 hour) until doubled in bulk.

Bake at 375°F for 50 minutes. Remove bread from pan and place on a wire rack to cool.

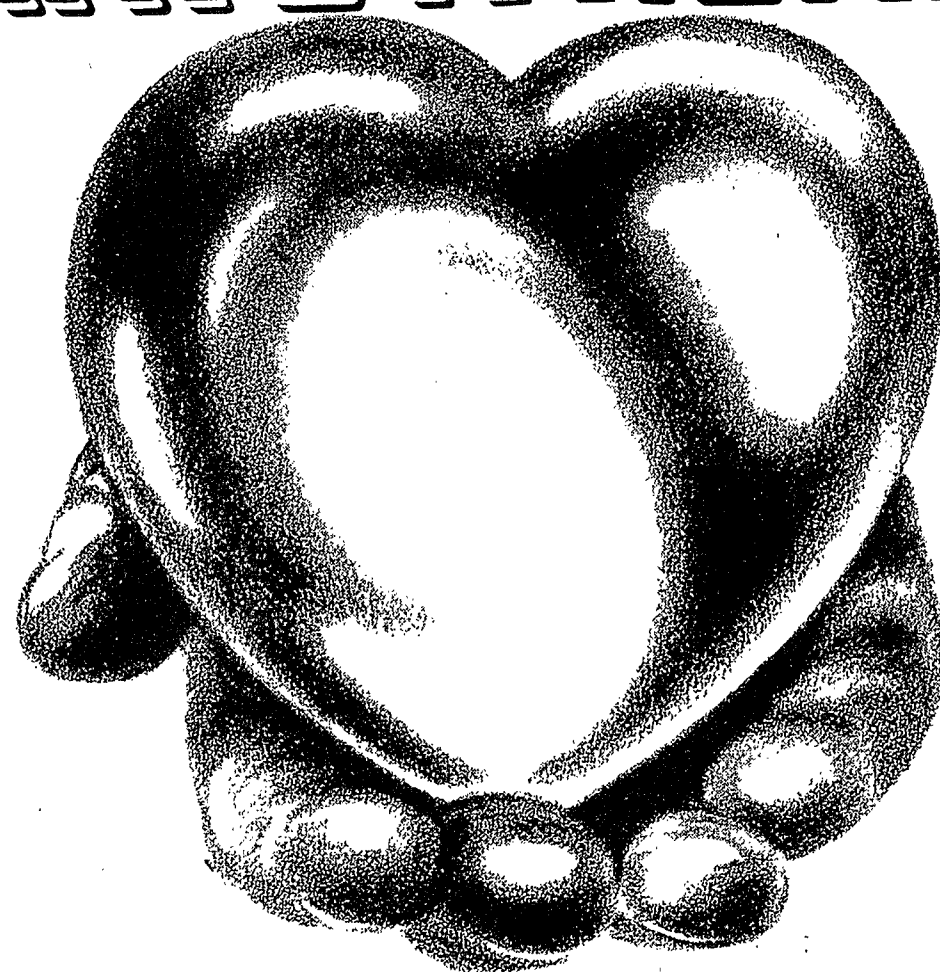

Yield: 1 loaf (16 slices) Approx. cal/serv.: 1 slice = 150

Variation:

One-quarter cup of wheat germ and/or 1/2 cup of seedless raisins may be added.

Approx. cal/serv.: 1 slice = 170

Lagarde-Peyregne

An afternoon ceremony on June 25 at Word of Faith Christian Fellowship in Bay St. Louis joined Debra Lynne Peyregne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Neil Peyregne of Gulfport, and Robert Andrew Lagarde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank William Lagarde Sr. of Bay St. Louis, in marriage.

The Reverend Ronald Skinner performed the double ring ceremony. Traditional hymns preceded the ceremony, leading into an organ-recorder duet by Cindy Galland and Kate Labouisse.

To open the ceremony, Elizabeth Drummond read John 3:16. Sharon Wilcox, accompanied by the children of Word of Faith, offered to the congregation a rendition of 'Love In Any Language.'

Scripture selections from Genesis and Song of Solomon were read by Gary and Susan Austin.

To the song 'Bridegroom,' presented by Ginger Cagle, youngsters aged four to six years, carrying white balloons, led the procession of attendants.

Mrs. Timonny Slucher attended the bride as matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Tyrone Dastugue, Mrs. Byron Bodin and Mrs. James Pringle, both sisters of the bride; and Elizabeth Lagarde, sister of the groom.

The attendants wore white dresses of taffeta overlaid with voile and trimmed with ribbon of blue rosebuds. They carried fresh garden bouquets of red tulips, blue iris, yellow freesia and white daisies. Headpieces were of yellow daisies, baby's breath and blue ribbons.

The groom was attended by Tyrone Dastugue as best man. Groomsmen were Alan Lagarde and Kevin Lagarde, brothers of the groom; Duncan Galland and William Hand.

Ushers were Jules Lagarde and Christopher Lagarde, brothers of the groom; Gary Austin, Kenneth Matthew and Albert Roughton.

Bethany Bodin, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. Ring bearer was Sean Hickey, nephew of the groom.

Following the matron of honor, they walked together to the front of the congregation where Miss Boudin presented to each mother of honor a white rose, and Sean presented the groom with the rings.

The processional song of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was 'Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring,' played by organist Cindy Galland.

The bride wore a white taffeta gown made by her mother. The organza-overlaid bodice was decorated with embroidered appliques while the neckline was edged with scalloped Alencon lace which also trimmed the edges of the organza sleeves. A bow of taffeta lay across each shoulder, and the chapel-length train was embellished with appliques to match the bodice. A large taffeta bow accented the waist on the back of the dress.

Her headpiece was of daisies and the length of her hair was laced with lavender agapantha. In her long-stemmed bouquet she carried red tulips, blue iris, yellow freesia, pink roses, stephanotis and white daisies.

The bride and groom were offered a reading from I Corinthians 13 by John Wilcox, and the song 'Love Is' by Kate Labouisse.

The Reverend Skinner sang 'Our Father' ending the ceremony.

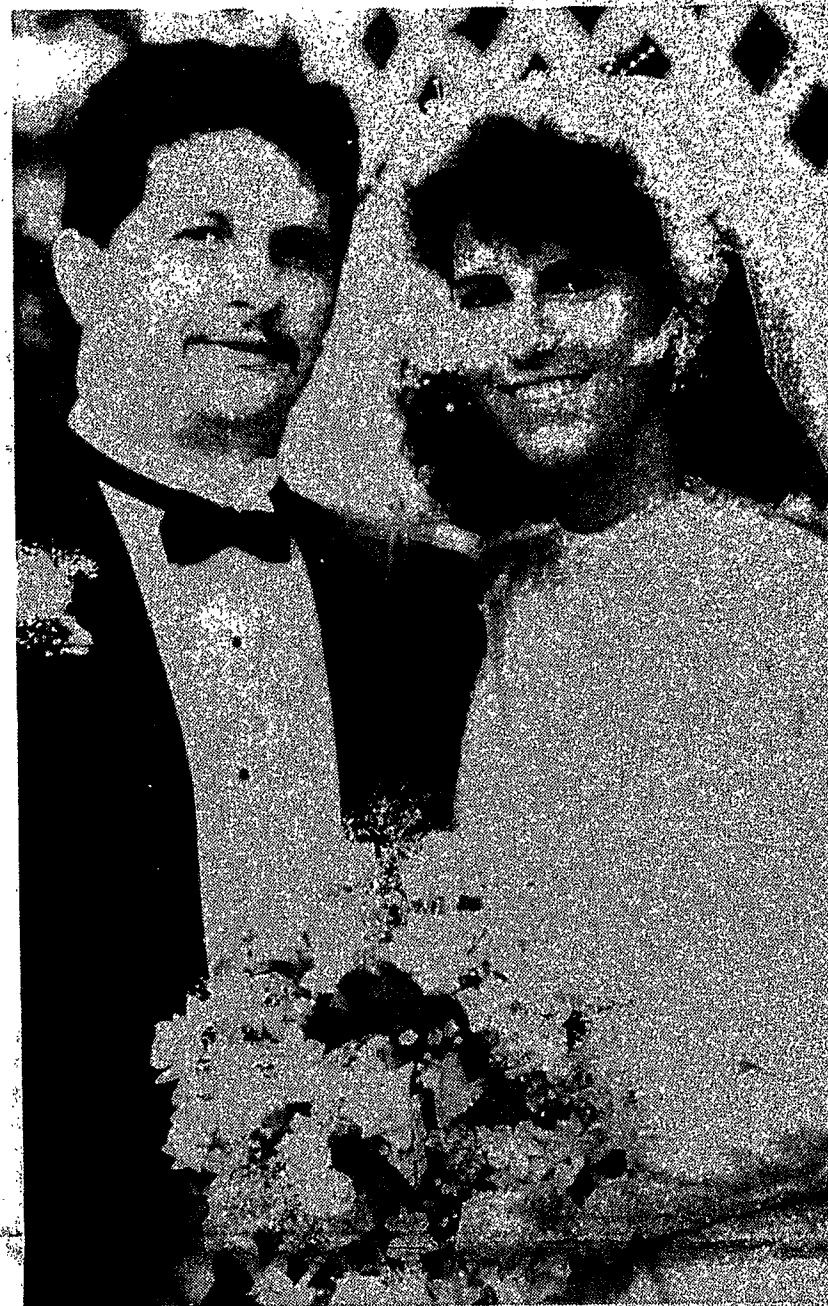

Following the wedding, a garden reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs.

Fred Wagner. A string quartet provided music.

The bride's cake was decorated with lavender agapantha and white daisies, while the tennis rackets adorned the groom's cake.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom at the home of the Reverend and Mrs. Ronald Skinner in Waveland on the eve of the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Lagarde will reside in Bay St. Louis. The groom is employed with the Pass Christian Public School System, and the bride is a pharmacist at Hancock Medical Center.

Bourgeois-Ott

Karen Coley Ott of Waveland and Darryl Joseph Bourgeois, also of Waveland, were united in marriage June 30, 1988, in a garden ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Judge Lee Klein performed the afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Ott of Waveland. The groom is the son of the late E. Bernard Bourgeois Jr. and Helen Bourgeois of New Orleans, La.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length, white satin dress with a high illusion neckline and a hand-beaded Alencon lace bodice which was heavily trimmed in seeded pearls. Her long tapered pearl buttoned sleeves were trimmed in identical Alencon lace. The full skirt featured a cathedral train with a hemline of matching lace. A fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a floral headpiece of seed pearls, silk flowers and iridescents.

She carried a cascade of white satin roses, stephanotis, blossom spary, baby's breath, seed pearls, English ivy and picot ribbon.

A reception followed the ceremony. On return from a honeymoon trip to Cancun, Mexico, the couple will reside in Waveland.

Doll-Montgomery

Lisa Joy Montgomery and David Edward Doll were united in marriage June 18 at the First Presbyterian Church of Salt Lake City, Utah. The Reverend Kenyon Kalvesmaki performed the 4:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony.

Organist and pianist was Aram Basmadjian.

Paul Striker of Missouri and Amy Dilworth of Long Beach sang 'The Wedding Song.' Steven Odmark of Salt Lake City sang 'The Lord's Prayer' and Mr. Striker and Mr. Odmark sang 'God and God Alone' as the recessional.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Montgomery of Diamondhead and the granddaughter of Mrs. Walter Snoden of Waveland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Doll of San Jose, Calif.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown designed and made by her sister, Sharon Loiacano. The gown was a shimmering ice blue with white lace and seed pearl trim. The skirt of the gown was floor length in the front and chapel length in the back with scalloped lace around the hem and beaded lace appliques on the train. The bodice had a dropped waist that came to a 'V' in the front and back and a sweetheart neckline with a low 'V' in the back.

A scalloped lace and an intricate bead and pearl trim highlighted the waist and neckline, along with several small beaded lace appliques and seed pearls on the front and back of the bodice. The double-ruffled pinaflore sleeves came to a 'V' under each arm with inserts of lace and beading. White satin roses were set on the slender satin bows on each shoulder with small white silk flowers and strings of pearls cascading down each side.

The bride wore a small-brimmed ice blue hat with the same beaded trim that highlighted the gown. On the back of the hat was a large bow of white bridal illusion with a large silk orchid and sprigs of pearls in the center and a length of bridal illusion flowing down the back below the bride's waist.

Sharon Loiacano, matron of honor, and Richard Doll, best man, performed the lighting of the candles. The lighting of the unity candle by the bride and groom was a part of the ceremony.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Sharon Loiacano of Bay St. Louis. Bridesmaids were Beth Kelley of Bay St. Louis, Amy Dilworth of Long Beach and Laurie Doll, sister of the groom, of Los Angeles, Calif. Laurean Broadbent of Morgantown, W. Va., was flower girl. Lindsay Thibodeaux, niece of the bride from Luling, La. and Mary Broadbent of Morgantown, W. Va., distributed rose petals at the reception.

Richard Doll, the groom's brother, of San Jose, Calif., was best man. Brian Bolster, Scott McKeith and Jeffrey Brazil, all of San Jose, served as groomsmen and ushers. David Thibodeaux, the bride's nephew of Luling, La., served as ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom rode to their reception at the Doubletree Inn in a white carriage pulled by two Clydesdale horses. After a honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe, the couple will be residing in Murray, Utah.

MRS. DAVID EDWARD DOLL

Theologos-Wyatt

Sherry Lynn Wyatt became the bride of Charles Theologos in a double ring ceremony July 16 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wyatt of Waveland.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Theologos of Saucier, Miss.

Officiating at the ceremony was Dr. Lewis A. Curtis, great-uncle of the bride, who also married the bride's parents.

The couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

The bride is a graduate of Bay Senior High School and the University of Mississippi School of Pharmacy. She is a pharmacist at Big B Drug Store in Pass Christian.

Mr. Theologos is a graduate of Long Beach High School and Jefferson Davis Junior College. He attended the University of Southern Mississippi. He is employed as first officer for Flight Lines Inc. of Jackson, Miss., and is a flight instructor with Miller-Wills Aviation Inc. of Gulfport.

Brennan-Buckner

Main Street United Methodist Church was the setting for the July 2 marriage of Sherry Lynn Buckner and Jeffrey Paul Brennan. The Reverend Van Carpenter officiated at the 1 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Dye of Waveland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent A. Brennan of Bay St. Louis.

Decorating the sanctuary were brass stands which held white silk roses and greenery. Similar arrangements flanked the altar and satin bows marked aisle pews.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Jean Smith of Waveland, organist, and vocalists Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sparkman Sr. of Lamarque, Tex., sister and brother-in-law of the groom.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a formal gown of white satin and lace, featuring a Victorian neckline outlined in lace and pearls on a sheer yoke. The fitted bodice was embellished with embroidered lace encrusted with pearls and iridescents, while matching lace adorned the Renaissance sleeves. Covered buttons closed the back of the gown and baby ruffles outlined the semi-cathedral train.

Silk calla lilies and pearl sprays formed a headband which held an elbow-length veil of illusion with pearl studded pouf. The bride carried a cascade of white silk roses and peach fresia accented with pearls and lace streamers.

Kim Graham of Bay St. Louis was matron of honor. Christa Buckner of Waveland, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Flower girl was Amanda Graham of Bay St. Louis.

The attendants were attired in pale aqua satin gowns, each with sweetheart neckline, sheer puffed sleeves and fitted bodice above a full flared skirt with handkerchief hemline. They carried nosegays of peach roses with peach and white fresia and matching ribbons.

The flower girls chose a white satin and lace tea-length gown with dropped waistline.

Robert Sparkman Jr., nephew of the groom, was best man. Leonard Rojas Jr. of Dayton, Ohio, cousin of the bride, was groomsman.

Ushers were Vincent Brennan Jr. of Houston, Tex., brother of the groom, and Dan Callahan of Dayton, uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Dye chose for her daughter's wedding a street-length dress of royal blue silk. Mrs. Brennan was attired in a pale mauve dress with lace collar and peplum.

A reception followed the ceremony at the American Legion Home in Bay St. Louis. Assisting were Mrs. Pat Lee and daughters Melissa and Aimie of Picayune; Mrs. Mae Carver of Pass Christian and Mrs. Jean Alexander of Bay St. Louis.

On return from a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple resides in Slidell.

Reflections

You Control Yourself

By Fr. Jerome LeDoux,

No one can make you lose your temper, no matter how short your fuse happens to be by nature or by neglect, and no matter how predisposed you may be to erupting with little provocation.

You alone control the forces which combine to explode into a display of anger.

You can never get away with the excuse that someone made you angry or provoked your temper. You can only allow yourself to react to provocation in such a way.

Nobody can make you lose self-control, even if that is short of blowing your temper.

Even if someone has put all the aggravating components in your face, that person cannot force you to react to them in any way you do not wish to react.

Loss of self-control, all evidence to the contrary notwithstanding, is always in your court. Your control may be under heavy siege, but it is invariably yours to choose to lose it.

By the same token, there is no one who can make you lose patience. Where patience exists, it is simply made stronger by frequent and painful testing.

If you have it, no one can force you to surrender it and with it your self-control.

Patience, which literally means suffering, is your choice to acquire, your choice to pursue and yours to retain. No matter how embattled you may be, it is strictly your move.

Just as you choose whether to suffer nobly, so do you choose to be patient.

No one can make you have a negative attitude toward things, toward people or toward life.

People can surround you with negativism of every kind, but they cannot force you to squeeze your mind into a narrow philosophy which dotes on the negative.

You alone choose your attitude, unless you allow yourself to be so unaware, so mindless and so directionless that you forfeit the shaping of your attitude to the prevailing winds of negativism.

Nobody can make you resentful or bitter, not even by heaping the worst abuse, the grossest insults or the most severe hatred upon you.

The most abusive of your alleged friends or the most hostile of your enemies cannot control your state of mind.

You alone control whether you will be resentful or bitter, even as Jesus invites you: "Love your enemies; do good to those who hate you. Bless those who curse you; pray for those who slander you." (Luke 6:27-28).

Just as no one can make you hate her/him, so can no one drive you to drink or make you intemperate in any way.

You may attempt to use the nastiness of another as an excuse to indulge, but, at bottom, nothing or no one can make you do it.

You are the one in control or out of control according to your own choosing. Only if you choose to do so must you sit on your pity pot by indulging in some form of intemperance, trying to drown reality in a pool of fantasy.

Nobody can make you cranky or depressed, no matter how gloomy his/her appearance, attitude, words or actions. Not even a stick in the mud, nor a wet blanket, nor a rain cloud can make you turn from sunshine to rain, from a lightsome to a morose spirit.

Allowing some leeway for the medical mischief of mere chemical imbalance, you are in control of your moods and expressions. It is you who calls all the shots, no matter how you feel.

No one can make you anything you do not allow yourself to be. You are literally in control every step of the way, if you choose to be in control. Once again, Jesus put it on the line: "By your patience you will possess your souls." (Luke 21:19).

Save Your Skin

Dr. Elizabeth I. McBurney, MD

Your skin is actually your body's largest organ. Fortunately for us, it is a good barrier against diseases. Unfortunately for us, it is exposed to the sun from the time we are small.

This repeated exposure leads to premature aging. We get wrinkles, leathery skin and brown spots. More seriously, this so-called photo-damage can also cause skin cancer.

To protect your skin from sun damage you should use a good sunscreen. Sunscreens block some tanning ultraviolet A light and most of the more damaging ultraviolet B light.

When you purchase a sunscreen, be sure the sun protection factor (SPF) is at least 15. This allows you to stay in the sun 15 times longer without burning.

Wait 30 minutes after applying a sunscreen before going out. This will give it a chance to bind to the skin. Do reapply it as needed, especially if you sweat or swim.

Applying every hour is about average. Use it every day on the sun-exposed areas, usually the face, neck and hands.

A tan actually represents damage to the skin. A safe product for a tanned look without sun exposure is Estee Lauder's self-tanning cream. It will last 2-3 days. Remember to still use a sunscreen if in the sun.

People prone to acne should choose a sunscreen with an alcohol base. If you have dry skin, choose a sunscreen with a moisturizer. Ask your dermatologist for a suitable one for your skin.

Put sunscreens on children as soon as they are sun-exposed. A child may be better off with a non-PABA sunscreen. Your druggist or dermatologist can help you.

If you are allergic or sensitive to a sunscreen, try one without PABA on a small area on the arm. Apply it two times a day for three days. If there is no reaction, then apply it to all the sun-exposed areas.

Try to develop a habit of wearing hats, long sleeve blouses, and clothing covering the legs. Walk on the shaded side of the street. Enjoy your picnic under a nice protective oak tree. Use a large umbrella on the beach. These habits together with your sunscreen will do much to slow the aging process and protect you against skin cancer.

Changes which suggest a possible skin cancer include: sudden growth in a nodule on the skin, bleeding, tenderness, or change in color. If you have reason to suspect you have a skin cancer, you should see a dermatologist.

Coast Coliseum adds to staff

BILOXI—Cindy Ricketts and Jennifer Diaz have been selected as marketing representatives for the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center.

Responsibilities for the two new marketing representatives will include identifying and securing conventions, meetings and trade shows.

Ricketts holds a master of arts degree from Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Prior to accepting this position, her work experience included serving as program development coordinator for the Lubbock Parks and Recreation Department, events coordinator for the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center and promotions manager for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

As program development coordinator she planned numerous special events and developed all Lubbock Parks and Recreation Department publicity.

While employed by the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center, Ricketts was responsible for the marketing, booking and coordinating of all events held in the facility.

She brings to the Coast eight years of public relations and promotions experience.

Diaz is a 1988 graduate of the University of South Alabama with a bachelor of arts degree in tourism and commercial recreation.

While a student Diaz served as a convention sales intern with the Coast Coliseum.

While completing her studies Diaz worked with both the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce and the Harrison County Tourism Commission.

She also gained valuable sales experience during two years with Walt Disney World.

Diaz brings to the facility four years of public relations and marketing experience.

Student jingle on radio stations

During State Wide Drug Awareness week, Hancock North Central Elementary School held a Jingle Contest.

The jingle had to contain the phrase, "Be Smart, Stay Smart, Just Say No" and last no more than one minute.

The winners of the Jingle contest were a brother and sister team, Mitch Havard, 11, in the sixth grade, and Laci Havard, 8, in the second grade. Steven Gustine donated his time and studio, "Divine Studio" for the recording.

Bob Guidrey Jr. arranged and played the music for the Jingle. The jingle can be heard on radio stations, WRJW in Picayune, WGCM in Gulfport, FOXY96 in Gulfport, and will be played on WQID 94 in Biloxi.

Feelin' Fit!

It's better to keep vitamin pills at room temperature than in the refrigerator. Every time you take pills out of the refrigerator they attract moisture, which promotes deterioration.

Goodwill seeks support

For many months Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi has experienced a steady drop in the amount of worthwhile items they have received which could be repaired and sold in their Gulf Coast stores.

This decline has adversely affected Goodwill's ability to keep their 35 mentally and physically handicapped employees with continuous work assignments.

"The lack of quality donated materials and items are due in a large part to the increasing family garage sales, flea markets and other similar events," advised Leroy Modenbach, executive director of Goodwill Industries, Inc. of South Mississippi.

In an effort to increase contributions such as clothing, small appliances, furniture, household goods, toys, kitchen utensils and any items deemed fixable, Goodwill is promoting activities among Coastal businesses and their employees.

Major work locations are targeted as drop-off centers for employees.

"When planning for these campaigns we request any and all items which were ready for resale, or could be repaired by our employees without a great deal of time or expense," added Modenbach.

"A month long campaign can be a great success in the quality and quantity of contributions received," he pointed out.

"We are continually challenged to find innovative ways to keep our people active and working. It is our sincere hope that companies, big and small, will join us in corporate sponsorships and seize the opportunity to help in any possible way," concluded Modenbach.

For further information on this or any other possible projects to assist Goodwill Industries, Inc., call 863-2323 or visit the Gulfport office at 2407 31st Street.

Gillan promoted to lieutenant colonel

LT. COL GILLAN

Robert E. Gillan of Natchitoches, La., director of security, plans and operations for the 204th Area Support Group, Louisiana Army National Guard in New Orleans, recently has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Gillan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Gillan Jr. of Shreveport, La. and nephew of Mrs. Oris G. Planchard and Mr. Neol R. Gillan Sr., both of Bay St. Louis.

A 20-year veteran of military service, Gillan supervises readiness and mobilization training of 60 Capstone units in the active and reserve force stationed throughout the United States and in West Germany.

Additionally, he is responsible for Louisiana National Guard transportation, maintenance, engineer and military police units stationed from central to southeastern Louisiana.

Gillan is a graduate of the Amery Command and General Staff College and has completed a variety of courses in the area of logistic management and operations.

His awards and decorations include the Bronze Star with second oak leaf cluster, Purple Heart, Air Medal, Army Achievement Medal, Vietnamese Service Medal, Vietnamese Campaign Medal, Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry, Vietnamese Honor Medal, and National Defense Medal as well as a number of Army Reserve and National Guard service and achievement medals.

Gillan was also awarded the Army Commendation Medal with second oak leaf cluster for meritorious service in support of the 256th Infantry Brigade (Mech) during a rotation at the National Training Center, Fort Irwin, Calif. in August 1987.

In civilian life, Dr. Gillan teaches on the faculty of Natchitoches State University Business Department and Louisiana Scholars's College in the area of computer information systems.

LOVE SONG

Some people, it is said, fall in love at first sight. But not so for William Hatchard and Philippa Jameson. They met on their first day at Cambridge and quickly decided they loathed each other. What followed was a lifelong rivalry.

The two-part encore presentation of 'Masterpiece Theatre's' 'Love Song' follows the two university colleagues as their rivalry forces them to continue to compete to extraordinary lengths—for the rest of their lives.

Michael Kitchen and Diana Hardcastle play the contentious pair in their earlier years. Constance Cummings and Maurice Denham take them into middle and old age when the special two-part is broadcast at 9 p.m., Sunday, July 31 on Mississippi ETV.

NATURAL FAMILY PLANNING: THE OVULATION METHOD

Leslie Van Borssum, M.D.

Tuesday, August 2/12:00 NOON

Natural family planning is the term used to describe methods for planning a family which does not use chemicals, drugs or devices. These methods are based on signs and symptoms of fertility and infertility which occur naturally in the woman's cycle. The Ovulation Method has been determined by the World Health Organization to be 97 - 99% effective. The benefits of the Ovulation Method are: no harmful side effects, promotes shared responsibility for family planning, promotes the woman's health and her general sense of well being and can be used throughout the woman's reproductive life from puberty to menopause. Leslie Van Borssum - M.D., Director for the Family of America Foundation.

FEMALE UROLOGY

Esteban O. Romano, M.D.

ETV Brief

MOYERS REBROADCAST
"From Iran to Texas, from Washington to Managua, the news we read in newspapers and see on television begins in the church or creed of people who take their faith seriously—and more and more of them have been taking their politics seriously, too," says journalist Bill Moyers.

In August, Moyers will explore how religious beliefs are shaping political events both at home and abroad in the three-part "Moyers: God and Politics," which will be rebroadcast beginning at 100 p.m., Friday, August 5, on Mississippi ETV. The first program, "The Kingdom Divided," which is 90 minutes long, explores the power of religion in shaping politics and even reconstructing governments. The second and third installments, which are one hour each, will air on consecutive Fridays.

KEEPING FIT

Q. I would like to begin an exercise program, but I don't have the time or money to join a fitness club. Also, because of a knee injury, aerobics and running are stressful. What do you suggest as an exercise that will help me lose weight and get in shape?

A. Fitness walking! Whether you want to shed a few pounds, or if you have a serious weight problem, fitness walking is by far the best exercise you can choose. The benefits of fitness walking are endless. It is, by the way, an aerobic exercise and improves both the strength and efficiency of the heart. It will improve muscular strength and tone the leg muscles. If you add wrist weights and swing your arms, it will also tone the arms. As an overall weight loss plan, fitness walking helps the body preserve lean muscle mass while helping you to lose fat, and it speeds up the metabolism sufficiently to improve the way the body handles sugar.

In addition to the physical health benefits, fitness walking has been shown to decrease depression and anxiety. It is a very simple activity to incorporate into a busy life and provides a time to take time off from the stress and strains of everyday life.

Genealogy research material available at Hancock libraries

The Hancock County Library and its branches at Kiln and Waveland now have available through the Mississippi Library Commission a collection of microfilm materials helpful to those conducting genealogy research.

The microfilm reels cover 93 rolls of The Enrollment Cards (census cards) for the Civilized Tribes from 1898-1914.

These records are part of Records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The five tribes are the Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole Indians.

Also, available are census records from the 4th census of the United States in 1820 to the census of 1910, as well as compiled Confederate and Union Military Service Records of those who served in organizations from the State of Mississippi.

There are a total of 477 rolls of microfilm in this category.

Mississippi marriages prior to 1926 are recorded on 147 rolls of microfilm.

This information was copied by WPA workers from marriage books in Mississippi county clerks' offices. Grooms' names are listed alphabetically.

All genealogical holdings mentioned above can be acquired through interlibrary loans from the Mississippi Library Commission by your local library.

For more information contact May Leigh Weston at the main library, 467-5282.

Brahms symphony featured on 'Mississippi Concert Hall'

A symphony by romantic composer Johannes Brahms is featured on the next edition of 'Mississippi Concert Hall' Thursday, Aug. 4 at 9 a.m., with rebroadcast Sunday, Aug. 7 at 1 p.m. on PRM.

Brahms' Symphony Number 2 in D Major, opus 73, is performed by the Jackson Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Colman Pearce. This performance was recorded Oct. 13, 1987.

'Mississippi Concert Hall' is produced by William Fulton.

Public Radio in Mississippi, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast statewide and on FM frequency 90.3 in Biloxi.

Meeting with a blues master

The following article is financially assisted by the National Endowment of the Humanities through a grant from the Mississippi Humanities Council to the Mississippi Press Association. The opinions expressed are those of the author and do not necessarily represent the views of these organizations.

By Ernest Herndon
Editor's Note: Ernest Herndon, a writer for the McComb Enterprise-Journal, is a published author and freelance writer. He lives in Amite County.

Mississippi blues is commonly associated with the Delta, but a few musicians stretch those geographic limits.

Well, get ready to have them stretched even farther, for a resident of the piney hills of Franklin County is a bluesman par excellence.

McCall Creek—the same community that has produced top-flight bluegrass players like former state banjo picker Larry Wallace, now of Starkville—harbors a humdinger of a blues pianist, a 68-year-old sent by the name of Charles Nelson.

I was surprised to find a major blues piano talent residing in the small community. But I had been forewarned. John Allen Smith of Meadville, a well-known Mississippi nature photographer and something of an authority on blues, had told me that Nelson has the sort of blues talent that would reach right down inside you. But still, that's one of the things you have to hear for yourself. Plenty of people, especially folk musicians, are touted as great when in fact their technical skills and repertoire are limited.

Smith and I met to drive out to Nelson's house one brisk, sunny day, but the meeting with Nelson was not to go like clockwork. Smith and I were running late, and when we arrived at Nelson's rural home outside McCall Creek, he was not at home. So we sat on the back porch of the old house, next to his own home, in which his mother used to live, where Nelson keeps his piano, and took turns picking the guitar.

Then we decided to kill some time at a neighbor's house. Jeff and Frankie Kelly sat on their screened-in front porch amid an incredible jumble of stuffed toy animals, ornaments, raccoon tails, even an actual stuffed chicken.

"Play us a song," Mrs. Kelly insisted. We obliged, and Kelly 80, chimed in with his harmonica on a smooth rendition of "Sitting on Top of the World," a blues classic. His harmonica playing had a rich, slow, simple, traintime chording.

Mrs. Kelly began to sing in a mournful, minor-keyed tune: "Oh when the wind blows, you can't run, you can't hide. 'Oh when the rain falls, you can't hide, you can't hide."

She sang another: "Long as I know I got a seat in the kingdom, then that's all right."

"You can talk about me as much as you please, none of your talking going to bend me knees."

"Long as I know I got a seat in the kingdom, then that's all right."

Next, Kelly played on the harmonica a strange, sad song he calls "Frisco" with alternating deep chords and piping notes.

"My wind's short," he complained when he finished. "I can't blow them like I used to."

He accompanied us over to Nelson's house, and we found Nelson had returned. Nelson is a tall, vigorous-looking man with the erect posture that comes from the military. He certainly does not fit the typical image of a Mississippi bluesman.

Although he grew up in Franklin County and learned to play on a pump organ, he lived for more than 20 years in Salt Lake City, Utah, in the U.S.

Army infantry, and imbibed much piano style from California bluesmen.

Retired from the service, Nelson works part-time for the U.S. Forest Service under an "old-timers" program. But despite his travels, including a stint in the Aleutian Islands of Alaska, Nelson's blues heritage lies in Mississippi. "I was kind of raised up with the blues," he says.

Nelson does his best talking on the keyboard. He kicks off with some fast, ragtime pieces, his shoe keeping time like a snare drum. But when he slows down and feels more comfortable, he launches into the sort of lowdown, smokey blues that chord with one's own heartbeat, songs like "Vicksburg Blues."

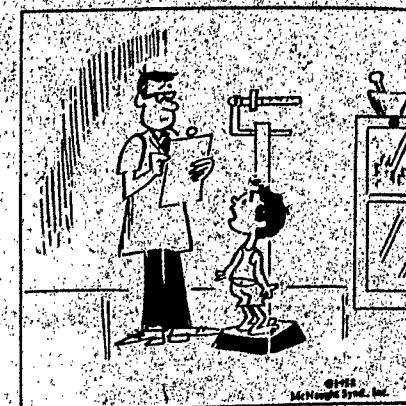

His left hand maintains a rolling bass so steady it sounds like a separate string bass. The right hand, wide as a rake, dips into sevenths and minors and slams up into high fluttering runs.

Folks, that's the blues. But Nelson says he has never had any desire to be famous. That may seem surprising from a man of such obvious skill—one doubts he would have much trouble gaining recognition. But to Nelson, "I think it's too fast a life for me. I just didn't want to pursue it." He mainly plays for himself, or for friends and neighbors like Kelly.

It's a rare thing to find so major a talent with so little ambition for fame, but for the few who get to sit around Nelson's piano in McCall Creek, it's a privilege indeed. And it's the blues tradition being carried on as it has always been.

BLUES MASTER Charles Nelson sits at the piano in his home in McCall, Mississippi.

LEGAL NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR COASTAL WETLANDS PERMIT AND WATER QUALITY CERTIFICATION
The Bureau of Marine Resources has received an application from the Bureau of Marine Resources requesting permission to conduct regulated activities under the provisions of the Coastal Wetlands Protection Law, Chapter 27, Mississippi Code of 1972.

The applicant is requesting permission to fill a key-hole barge adjacent to her property in Herring Bay Estate, Hancock County, Mississippi. In compliance with Section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251 (341)), as amended by P.L. 95-217, Title B, Subchapter II, Section 301 (33 U.S.C. 1311), Section 302 (33 U.S.C. 1312) Section 303 (U.S.C. 1313), Section 306 (U.S.C. 1316) and appropriate requirements of the State Law.

Any person wishing to make comments or objections to the proposed regulated activity must submit those comments in writing to the Bureau of Marine Resources at Post Office Drawer 959, Long Beach, Mississippi 39560 and the Bureau of Pollution Control, Post Office Box 10385, Jackson, Mississippi 39205 before 1:00 p.m. on the 17th day of August, 1988.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING RELATIVE TO ADOPTION OF COUNTY BUDGET FOR 1989-1989
Notice is hereby given to the public that the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, will on Monday, August 15, 1988, at 10:00 a.m., hold a public hearing in the Boardroom at the Hancock County Courthouse relative to the adoption of the final budget of the Board of Supervisors for the next fiscal year, beginning October 1, 1988, through September 30, 1989. Said budget shall show the various uses and expenditures of revenues to be derived by said Board of Supervisors for said coming year.

All citizens will be afforded the right to submit written and/or oral comments and questions about the overall budget. A copy of the said budget proposed for adoption will be available for public inspection in the office of the Chancery Clerk for 10 days prior to adoption of said budget.

Published by order of the Board of Supervisors dated July 29, 1988.

KITCHEN KORNER

A Tip From Martha Stewart
K mart entertainment and lifestyle consultant

"Try using seasonal flowers, foliage, or vegetables for table decorations. This saves money and encourages ingenuity. If there are no flowers blooming, use a grouping of your favorite collectibles . . . yellow bowls, antique toys, a cluster of seashells."
